

Protect Kendall Now!

Public Information Meetings

Kendall County is privileged with a rich tapestry of prairie, woodlands, wetlands, farms and rivers. Tremendous growth in the county puts our natural heritage and legacy at risk for future generations.

A component of Protect Kendall Now! was to create a unified Open Space and Natural Areas Map for Kendall County. Come see the map and learn how the map was created, who was involved, and what it means for Kendall County.

Everyone is invited to attend any of the meetings scheduled as follows to learn more and share comments:
